CHORUS

Bus-topher Jones is not skin and bones,
In fact he's remarkably fat,
Cat we all greet as he walks down the street,
In his coat of fastidious black.

He doesn't haunt pubs,
He has eight or nine clubs,
For no common place mousters have such well-cut trousers.
Or he's the St. James's Street Cat!
He's the such an impeccable back.

In the whole of St. James's the smartest of names is The name of this Brunswick of cats, And we're all of us proud to be nodded or bowed to By Bustopher Jones in white spats!

My visits are occasional to the Senior Educational And it is against the rules. For anyone cat to belong both to that and the Joint Superior Schools. For a similar reason, when game is in season, I'm found not at Fox's, but Blimp's; I am frequently seen at the gay Stage and Screen Which is famous for winkles and shrimps. In the season of ven'son I give my ben'son to the Pot-hunter's succulent bones; And just before noon's not a moment too soon To drop in for a drink at the Drones. When I'm seen in a hurry there's probably curry At the Si-am-ese or at the Ghut-ton; If I look full of gloom then I've lunched at the Tomb On cabbage, rice pudding and mutton. In the whole of St. James's the smartest of names is The name of this Brummell of cats.

And we're all of us proud to be nodded or bowed to By Busto-pher Jones in white.

Busto-pher Jones in white, Busto-pher Jones in white spats.
So, much in this way, passes Bustopher's day. At one club or another he's found. It can be no surprise that under our eyes. He has grown unmistakably round. He's a twenty-five-pounder, or I am a bounder. And he's putting on weight every day. But I'm so well pre-served... be-cause I’ve ob-served All my life a rou-tine; and I’d say I am still in my prime: I shall last out my time. That’s the word from this stout-est of cats...

It must and it shall be Spring in Pall Mall... While Bus-to-pher Jones wears white, Bus-to-pher Jones wears white, Bus-to-pher Jones wears white spats!
